MEMORANDUM by the Hon. Sir J. VOGEL.

THE accounts of my first mission to England were, I believe, laid on the table of the House, and the Hon. Mr. Fox, in a speech reported in Hansard, vol. XI., page 742, entered into explanations. I will ask the Committee to embody this speech in the evidence taken. (Vide L. post.)

In respect to the second mission, I seek sufficient to cover all my expenses in excess of my salary, as agreed with the Government before I left New Zealand. For this purpose, £2,750 will have to be paid to me, in addition to the £1,500 special allowance I have already received. This will still, besides my salary, leave me some £400 out, which I consider was for exceptional expenditure.
