

4. On the coming into force of this Instrument the Director of the International Labour Office shall so notify all the members of the International Labour Organization, the Secretary-General of the United Nations, and all the States having signed the Charter of the United Nations.

APPENDIX 9.—RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE AT ITS TWENTY-SEVENTH SESSION

RESOLUTION CONCERNING THE ENTRY INTO FORCE OF THE INSTRUMENT FOR THE AMENDMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR ORGANIZATION (ADOPTED ON 5TH NOVEMBER, 1945)

The Conference draws the attention of the members of the Organization to the importance of prompt ratification of the Instrument of Amendment to the Constitution of the Organization adopted by it on 5th November, 1945, as a necessary preliminary to the fuller consideration of constitutional questions at next year's session of the Conference, and ventures to hope that this Instrument will have been ratified by all members of the Organization before the opening of the next general session of the Conference.

APPENDIX 10.—RESOLUTION CONCERNING THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR ORGANIZATION AND THE UNITED NATIONS (ADOPTED ON 3RD NOVEMBER, 1945)

Whereas the Charter of the United Nations proclaims the determination of the peoples of the United Nations to "save succeeding generations from the scourge of war," to "reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights" and in "the dignity and worth of the human person," to "establish conditions under which justice and respect for the obligations arising from treaties and other sources of international law can be maintained," "to promote social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom," and for these ends "to employ international machinery for the promotion of the economic and social advancement of all peoples"; and

Whereas the Charter establishes for the attainment of these ends an international organization to be known as the United Nations and provides that international organizations established by intergovernmental agreement and having wide international responsibilities, as defined by their basic Instruments, in economic, social, cultural, educational, health, and related fields, shall be brought into relationship with the United Nations; and

Whereas the Constitution of the International Labour Organization affirms that universal peace can be established only if it is based on social justice, and declares the intention of the high contracting parties, moved by sentiments of justice and humanity as well as by the desire to secure the permanent peace of the world, to establish the International Labour Organization as a permanent organization for the promotion of social justice; and

Whereas the Conference of the International Labour Organization meeting at New York on 4th November, 1941, unanimously declared the victory of the free peoples in the war against totalitarian aggression to be an indispensable condition of the attainment of the ideals of the International Labour Organization; and

Whereas the Declaration of Philadelphia, which was unanimously adopted by the General Conference of the International Labour Organization meeting in its Twenty-sixth Session at Philadelphia on 10th May, 1944, "recognizes the solemn obligation of the International Labour Organization to further among the nations of the world programmes which will achieve," among other ends, "full employment and the raising of standards of living," and "pledges the full co-operation of the International Labour Organization with such
