the most profitable lambs for freezing purposes was again tried, and the results carefully worked out and tabulated. The same experiment is being tried again (1900–1901). Also experiments with sheep to be fed on turnips, with and without dry food, are to be tried next year (1901).

During the early part of the year grass was scarce, but later on and throughout the summer there was a superabundance of it, in fact much beyond the requirements of our stock. The winter was exceedingly mild, and all classes of stock were brought on to spring-time in first-class condition.

The live-stock continue to improve. Nearly all the shorthorn cows are first-class pedigree animals. Specimens of the Hereford, Jersey, Aberdeen-Angus, and Ayrshire are still kept for educational purposes. The Berkshire pigs are very good, and are all pedigree animals. An increasing demand for the college stock is manifesting itself from all parts of the colony. The six different breeds of sheep—Border Leicester, English Leicester, Lincoln, Shropshire Downs, South Downs, and Romney Marsh—are high-class representatives of these breeds. The live-stock, more especially sheep, have been reduced in number, and are as follows: Cattle, 87; sheep, 1,065; horses, 12; pigs, 28 (5 in pig); fowls, 166. This year, practically, no purchases of live-stock have been made, excepting two Berkshire boars, a Border Leicester ram, and a shorthorn bull.

As heretofore, a number of improvements for the intrinsic betterment of the farm have been

As heretofore, a number of improvements for the intrinsic betterment of the farm have been effected, and a large amount of tree-planting has been done, over one thousand trees having been planted. With judicious thinning-out and felling of the larger pine trees, the beauty of the plantations and the surroundings of the college will be greatly enhanced.

The Hon. the Minister of Education, Wellington.

I have, &c., J. BAYNE, Director.
