

FIG. 21.—Plan of cookhouse for Samoans, Apia Hospital. The feeding of in-patients is a duty of their friends. Each in-patient is permitted to have one friend as attendant. Others bring the food, and the attendant, under medical supervision, cooks it for the patient. The cookhouse is so constructed that all foods can be cooked in Native fashion. Storage of food in the cookhouse is not permitted.