

MARINE DEPARTMENT—continued.

REMARKS.

- (a) Miscellaneous items of expenditure which could be charged more properly to an item such as this have been charged previously to "Contingencies."
- (b) Payments in connection with various experiments not brought to charge.
- (c) Anticipated research work necessitating the payment of grants was not completed last year.
- (d) New vessel for Fisheries Section, the full cost of which will be brought to charge this year, is now being constructed.
- (e) It is anticipated that this year there will be a slight increase in the number of sacks of oysters available for selling-purposes, with a corresponding increase in revenue.
