

THE Kokako

PERSPECTIVE AND PROSPECT

Callaeas cinerea wilsoni

by Rod Hay, Scientist, Forest and Bird Society

Two seasons have passed since the winding up of field-work for the Society's Kokako research project. While the results are being published in scientific journals, it is appropriate to present a synopsis of the study, its conclusions and an account of where the kokako goes from here.