

The first glimpse of Bushy Park Homestead, the Society's most prestigious building, gained by those who come to stay as guests or to see the house and grounds. Set against a background of virgin bush and with a view across the Rangitikei Plains, the Lodge has six private bedrooms and is open seven days a week to members and the general public. Built in 1905, it offers warm rooms, hot showers and a well-equipped kitchen. Support it with your visit.
