

Fiordland crested penguins (Tawaki) coming ashore to feed their chicks on the Moeraki coastline. Inset: Close up of an adult penguin. Uncontrolled dogs continue to kill Fiordland crested penguins. A proposed new regulation, the first likely to be gazetted under the Conservation Act, will enable dogs to be banned from South Westland's penguin colonies.
Photo: Gerry McSweeney

