

A Trumper's Guide to New Zealand's National Parks

Robbie Burton and Maggie Atkinson

$29.95

A succinct but comprehensive guide to all the country's national parks, written by two keen and experienced trampers, with the support of the Department of Conservation. This completely revised edition provides practical descriptions of every established walking track or route, as well as up-to-date information on access, track conditions, huts and campsites, and scenic attractions.

101 Great Tramps in New Zealand

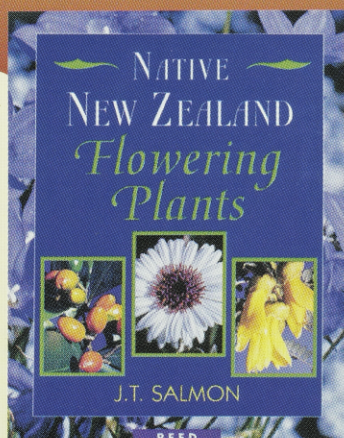

Mark Pickering & Rodney Smith

$29.95

This book includes all of this country's classic tramps, from the internationally known tracks like the Milford Track and the Routeburn to well-known local tramps such as Totara Flats in the Tararua Ranges and the Round-the-Mountain trek at Mt Taranaki. Fifteen new tramps have been added in this new edition.

Get out and about and see it for yourself

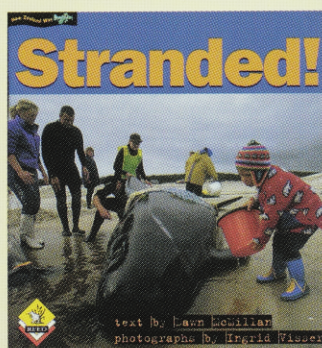

Native New Zealand Flowering Plants

J.T. Salmon

$44.95

The definitive work on New Zealand flowering plants, with over 1000 detailed colour photographs, is now available for the first time in paperback. Over 600 species are included – from well-known and often-cultivated trees and shrubs to lesser known herbs and grasses.

Stranded!

Dawn McMillan, with photographs by Ingrid Visser

$12.95

There are over thirty species of whales in New Zealand waters and all of them have been known to strand. Saving a whale needs teamwork, and this book looks at some of the way we can all help as useful members of that team.

Discovering New Zealand Birds

Written and illustrated by Sandra Morris

$12.95

This book looks at fourteen New Zealand birds from the mountains, forest, coast and sea. Wildlife artist and keen birdwatcher Sandra Morris tells how they got their names, how they feed, sing or call, and how they nest and raise a family.

Available from booksellers nationwide.

REED

Visit our website: www.reed.co.nz