 "Symphony No. 35 in D Major" (Haffner) Mozart
 Played by the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra of New York, conducted by Arturo Toscanini

This symphony is said to have been composed by Mozart (in less than a fortnight) in 1782, to please the Haffner family. Sigmund Haffner was the Burgomaster of Salzburg and the work was produced during a fete which Haffner had a hand in organising. Six years previously (in 1776) Mozart composed for a wedding in the same family his famous Haffner Serenade, Suite in D.
