

DO YOU KNOW?

Maoris used human teeth (both of friends and enemies), dogs' teeth and sharks' teeth as ear pendants.

Cæsar's wife, Calpurnia, rubbed her teeth with goat's milk to sweeten her breath. To-day we know that Kolynos Dental Cream will give your mouth that clean, fresh-as-a-daisy feeling. Brushing your teeth with Kolynos after every meal puts a brilliant sparkle into your smile. Kolynos is made from the formula of a famous American dental surgeon, Dr. N. S. Jenkins. He made it concentrated—so that half an inch of Kolynos on a dry brush is plenty.

It is unlucky for a sleeping person to grind his teeth. But you can avoid this risk by striking the person three times with a slipper.

Kolynos Dental Cream has been awarded the Gold Seal of the London Institute of Hygiene for consistent purity and quality.

Can dental plates be kept looking like new? Yes. Brush them with Kolynos Dental Plate Cleanser. One brushing makes your denture shine like new. Daily brushing keeps it that way.

£125,000,000 was spent on teeth in a year, according to the U.S. Dental Association . . . an average of £1 a head. Do you know where decay germs breed? In those food deposits which cling between your teeth. Kolynos swirls into the tiniest interstices, completely removes all those dangerous food deposits, and checks decay.

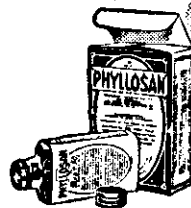

The ancient Greek warrior Pyrrhus cut all his teeth in one solid block. Pyrrhus would have known about Kolynos—you see, Kolynos is an ancient Greek word meaning "Disease preventer." And Kolynos certainly does help to prevent dental decay.

HANDKERCHIEF MAGIC

No. 8

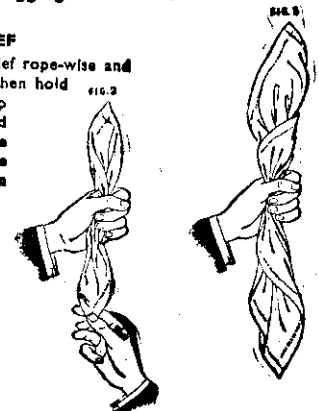

STRETCH A

Grafton HANDKERCHIEF

as often as you like . . . only a long-wearing Grafton is strong enough to take tugging and strain.

STRETCHING A HANDKERCHIEF

Loosely roll your Grafton handkerchief rope-wise and gather up into the hand (Fig. 1). Then hold in the position of Fig. 2. Grasp top and bottom ends alternately, and apparently exerting great pressure, the handkerchief is slowly stretched to twice its size. A simple illusion which can be very mystifying.
