

THE LISTENER CROSSWORD

(Solution to No. 329)

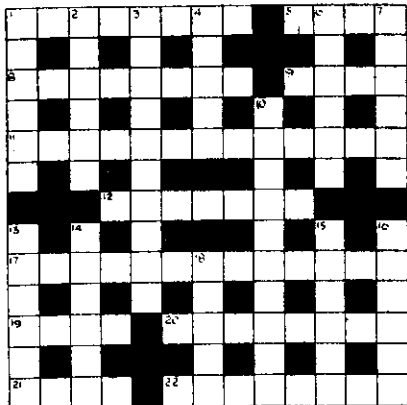

Clues Across

- This table is not at all 2 down.
- This footwear, if properly arranged, would cover your whole leg, and would be useful in the garden.
- "For where your — is, there will your heart be also." (Matthew 6, 21).
- A Jane Austen heroine.
- The name of an opera by Purcell.
- Smears with oil, and yet makes no stain.
- In the end, the fire-bugs describe Pepys and Evelyn.
- It's removed from 12 across.
- Use coal with care here.
- Suitable language for a seer.
- Heaven proverbially helps those who practise this.

Clues Down

- Disorderly.
- Stayed firm?
- Refraining from a giant's bin.
- Ghastly.
- A small town provides a great tragic figure.
- Change please!
- A feminist would agree with this term for a wife.
- "What is truth? said jesting —; and would not stay for an answer." (Bacon).
- Suitable implements for a reporter?
- "We carved not a line, we raised not —, But we left him alone with his glory." (Two words—Wolfe—The Burial of Sir John Moore).
- Once again change please!
- Annie seems to be knocked senseless.

No. 330 (Constructed by R.W.C.)

"Colonel Britton" Goes to New York

IN the early days of resistance to German domination, "Colonel Britton" became a legendary figure to the peoples of the occupied countries. His was the radio voice, broadcasting in the BBC's European Service, which advised, informed, and gave confidence to the rapidly growing numbers of those who had the courage to tune in to London.

Douglas Ritchie, who served throughout the war in the European Service of the BBC, has a place in history as "Colonel Britton." He has now been appointed Radio and Press Officer of the British Information Services in the United States, and has already taken up his duties in New York.

NEW ZEALAND LISTENER, FEBRUARY 28