

MAUREEN McCORMICK

open Friday's session, to be followed by news about hobbies, and crafts and hints on health and beauty. Under the heading "Notable Quotables" there will be notes on popular quotations and their authors. Every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday listeners will hear a dramatic narrative, Ever Yours, at 3.0 p.m. The Shopping Reporter sessions will be continued from Monday to Friday at 12.30 p.m.

Jessie McLennan, one of the most experienced women broadcasters in New Zealand, will supervise all women's sessions. She has been with the NZBS for eight years, has done commercial radio work in Australia and recently visited the U.S. to study American methods of commercial broadcasting. For some time she was with 3ZB and later with 4ZB, where she conducted the Home Service session. A large part of her time will be taken up travelling round the commercial stations.

Here is some information about the four women at present conducting women's *sessions:

Marina Parr (1ZB) has been in the Service for nine years conducting broadcasts of special interest to women. Elsie Lloyd (2ZB) conducted a housewives' session some years ago, but has latterly been with the production studios of the NZBS. She is well known in repertory work as a producer and judge of drama festivals. Molly McNab (3ZB) has been on the staff of the Christchurch station for some time, appearing in various sessions. Maureen McCormick (4ZB), a newcomer to radio, has been a schoolteacher and a tours hostess for a New Zealand passenger-transport company.

From Monday, July 5, there will be a change in the name of the A.C.E. (Association for Country Education talks), heard twice a week from the main National Stations. They will be known in future as Home Science talks.
