

"See, Mum? A baby's life isn't all sunshine!"

BABY: Such a face, Mum! Folks'll think you don't enjoy being me—having a life that's all "sun and fun"!

MUM: All "sun and fun", eh? Did I say that? All "squirms and wriggles" is more like it! I'd forgotten babies work and play so hard. Ooh, my skin's uncomfortable!

BABY: Bless my booties, Mum, that's what my skin feels like all the time! Now maybe you'll be sympathetic when I tell you I need Johnson's Baby Cream and Johnson's Baby Powder!

MUM: So that's what you've been fussing for, sweetie! But do you need both!

BABY: Gracious, yes, Mummie. After my bath, just you smooth me all over with pure gentle Johnson's Baby Cream. And use it every time you change me, too, to help prevent what my doctor calls "urine irritation."

As for Johnson's Baby Powder—haven't you noticed the chafes and prickles I get these hot summer days? Plenty of cool sprinkles with Powder will help fix that!

MUM: Honey, I've been a behind-the-times mama. But watch me catch up!

BABY: Swell, Mum! Don't let me rush you, but how about a little jaunt out for Johnson's right now?

NYLON means Better sport...

In many types of sports equipment—tennis and badminton racquet strings, for instance—Nylon monofilament is superseding natural gut. The amazing strength, resilience and resistance to fatigue of Nylon gives it a vastly increased playing life; Nylon resists stranding, splitting or fraying; strings easier; is moisture resistant. In fishing, too, Nylon casts, traces and lines are superior to gut. Nylon retains its strength wet or dry and can be tied and fished immediately without prior soaking. It does not deteriorate in storage, is immensely strong and almost invisible in water. Nylon monofilament for angling is sold under the brand name "Luron."

and Better surgical sutures

The medical profession quickly appreciated the advantages of the Nylon suture. Made under the brand name "Sutran," I.C.I. Nylon monofilament sutures are strong, smooth and supple; can be coiled or sewn without kinking; are naturally sterile; non-irritating and uniform in diameter.

Nylon monofilaments for surgical sutures and sports equipment are made by Imperial Chemical Industries—another great I.C.I. contribution, in two diverse fields, to better living through plastics.
