Recordings:
Philharmonic Orchestra,
"Phaedra" Overture
Massenet

In 1900 when Racine's tragedy "Phaedra" was revived in Paris, Massenet composed this Overture as part of the incidental music to the play. Phaedra was the daughter of Minos, King of Crete, and wife of Theseus. The plot of the story shows Phaedra to be anything but a nice person. How her stepson comes by his death through her, and how she, wrung with remorse, strangles herself, is revealed in a play that has since been counted a classic among tragedies.
