Jarvis Outpoints Sharpe + And Is Looking For Gildo + Who Outpointed Caltaux

JACK JARVIS again demonstrated his right to the light-weight crown when he outpointed Jackie Sharpe. Many were thinking the bout might be won by the short route, when a burst glove on the champion's fist stopped hostilities for some ten minutes. The "breather" worked wonders for Sharpe, who started the second portion of the bout with such renewed vigour that Jarvis was sampling his share before the final round concluded.

Gildo and Jarvis are likely to meet again shortly. It is Jarvis's great desire to obtain a clear cut victory over Gildo before he leaves with the 3rd Echelon.

Boxers going overseas will have plenty of opportunities. Reports from Egypt indicate that boxing is very popular with the troops. One remarkable feature is the number of unknown men who have come to the top, like oil in water.

To take on a tough morsel of the Vic Caltaux kind, and outpoint him, was a meritorious feat for Young Gildo. There was 12½lb. between the pair in favour of Caltaux, but this made little difference. The little man with the big smile was too clever and by much the cleaner puncher.

Jackie Sharpe, who is with the Air Force, wants further contests. His recent showing proved him to be very fit, and anything but a spent force as a boxer.

Caltaux now wants to meet any middle-weight in the Dominion. He finds reducing weight is actually harder than fighting. He took off something like 7lb. before he met Gildo.

Boxing is very popular just now. In Wellington and again in Auckland, the full house sign has been in evidence.

When McInnes and W. Judd boxed a draw in a preliminary bout in Auckland recently, the spectators considered they had received more than they had paid for, so they threw coins into the ring to the amount of something like £7.

During the winter months most listeners reach out for distant stations. Why not let us have your reception comments.

Television programmes from W2XBS now include kaleidoscope interludes. The patterns are recorded on film, then projected. The inventor, W. C. Eddy, of the NBC, took 18 months to develop the device.

Mention of television recalls that recently viewers saw a remarkable broadcast when a United Air Line 'plane equipped with a television camera of a new type flew over New York City. This first real test of what a television eye could do when aloft was watched with keen interest by U.S. Army and Navy officers. A spectacular stunt was also carried out in this test. A second 'plane equipped with a television receiver was sent up. The occupants of this craft were able to see themselves as seen by the "eye" in 'plane No. 1.

The "border" Mexican stations which are heard at about 4 p.m. continue to put out strong signals. It is stated that
