The Three Suns have become almost a permanent institution in one of New York's leading hotels. Their contract is renewed year after year and their bright presentations are a feature of New York's night life. The Three Suns entertain from 22B at 6.45 this evening.

Millicent Phillips, when only 14, was one of the big hits of "Youth Takes a Bow," when Jack Hylton presented Band Wagon at the London Palladium years ago. She is the daughter of a Redditch factory worker and received the largest number of votes in the new voices series in Band Wagon on the air. When she was 10 years old she entered a singing competition at Cheltenham, won two juvenile events and then the open class for all ages. On leaving school in her early teens she won a three-year scholarship to Trinity College of Music. For songs by Millicent Phillips be listening to 4ZB at four o'clock.

At a quarter to nine this evening 22A will present a further edition of "Country Digest," a Friday evening programme for farmers in Manawatu and surrounding districts, compered by Ivan Tabor.
