Born in 1902, the son of a printer, Peter Yorke was an accomplished organist at the age of 18. He soon obtained a position as choirmaster and organist at a small church in North London. A little later he got a job as a pianist in a West London orchestra. His skill as an arranger was so apparent that, within a couple of years, he was arranging music for all the important bands in London. By 1932 Yorke was acknowledged as one of the finest dance band orchestrators in England. In 1937 he led an orchestra of 25 players and wrote pieces which were appreciated both as dance tunes and orchestral music. For recordings by Peter Yorke's Orchestra, he listening to 1ZB at 6.30.

At 6.15 this evening 2ZA will broadcast a studio recital by a young Otaki tenor, Damion Hakaraia.

For gay days or grey days

It's a smart girl that's smart all the time. In her Rainster she turns from a fair-weather charmer into a weather-wise siren in a lightning-flash. You're never caught out with the weather when you choose this fashion raincoat. The styling is utterly Continental; the proofing is thoroughly British. Fitted, belted, loose, or 3-way convertible — your own pet style and colour is in a Rainster.
