Bert Ambrose was taken to America by his aunt and following his education and violin studies obtained an engagement in a cinema orchestra. He turned later to dance music and was engaged as second violin in the fashionable New York Palais Royal. Later when the leader fell ill Ambrose took over and led the orchestra. In 1920 Ambrose was discovered by Luigi who opened the Embassy Club in London and brought him back to England to take charge of the music at the Embassy. He remained at the Club until 1927 when he left to form his New Mayfair Band and play at the Mayfair Hotel. At the gigantic Coronation Ball at the Albert Hall in 1937 Ambrose provided a dance orchestra of 50 players and they played to over 10,000 dancers. Tonight at 9.30, 4ZB will broadcast recordings by Ambrose and his Orchestra.

Jimmy Durante can lay claim to more than just a prominent nose, for his film and radio appearance and recordings have brought laughter into the hearts of millions. 2ZA's "Humour in the Groove," at 9.30 tonight, features some of Durante's most popular recordings.

Vivid and arresting!
