"THE LISTENER" CROSSWORD

Clues Across

No. 712 (Constructed by R.W.H.)

- Spoil the takings of the match at an English seaside resort.
- Not the sort of robes to be worn by the intoxicated?
- The bishop's head-dress suffers a transformation.
- Late in bed.
- I am removed from 8 across for a period.
- Objects, but is apparently in favour of examinations.
- "After life's fitful — he sleeps well" ("Macbeth," Act 3, Scene 2).
- Throw into anger.
- In recent surroundings it is reversed, with a reserved result.
- "Motley's the only ——" ("As You Like It," Act 2, Scene 7).
- Querulous.
- Found in reverse in Kate's purse.
- Sum.
- Suite.

Clues Down

- Worthiness from 8 across.
- Some err (anag.), but possibly suffer this?
- Type of voice found in 25 across.
- "O joy! that in our — Is something that doth live" (Wordsworth's "Ode on the Intimations of Immortality").
- "They, hand in hand, with wandering steps and slow, Through Eden took their — way" (Milton, "Paradise Lost").
- Shooting range.
- Vegetable found in the basket Conrad is holding.
- "Blessed are the ——" (St. Matthew, Chap. 5, v. 7).
- One star may give rise to treachery.
- Excess of returns over outlay.
- Isaak Walton's was Compleat.
- Pleasant beginning to the treatment?
- Blooming early from the earth?
- Fat found in 24 across.

Cook's Tour

"ONE of my two co-drivers, a New Zealander, sat on our cooker when it was well and truly alight in the Belgian Congo. He leapt into the air and landed in a bowl of hot stew, which fortunately put his fire out."—Eric Davies, talking in a BBC programme about some of his adventures during a car journey from Durban to London.
