One of the most controversial of modern singers, Mario Lanza, is an American whose fame came via a 1942 debut in "Merry Wives of Windsor," and an army performance in "Winged Victory." Lanza sings from 12B at 1.45.

In the words of one of New York's newspaper men, Evelyn Knight brings to her singing of a jazz tune some of the elegance and style you will find in Garbo's acting or Markova's dancing. This tall, blonde singer was born in the South of America about 30 years ago. She started as a performer in small radio stations, and received a contract to appear in a Washington, D.C., supper club. Evelyn Knight's recordings of romantic ballads, humorous ditties, and specially arranged folk songs are consistent best sellers. 4ZB features Evelyn Knight at 4.0 p.m. today.

"This Was the Week," broadcast by 2ZA every Thursday evening at 10 o'clock, has as its subject the "Dreyfus" case, which is recognised as being one of the most notorious trials of all time.
