

JAMES HOPKINSON

of the greatest and most melodic of Mozart's concertos." He later went to live in Napier and has now moved to Auckland. David Galbraith is a young Auckland pianist who went overseas to complete his studies and has since returned to make successful appearances at the Auckland Music Festival, where he played Mendelssohn's Variations Sérieuses, and Schubert's Fantasia in C Major and the fantasy The Wanderer, Op. 15. Since his return David Galbraith has also appeared in La Serva Padrona, and played the piano parts for this opera and The Telephone when they were produced in Wellington recently by the New Zealand Opera Group. He is considered by many critics to be one of the most talented young pianists in New Zealand today, and arrangements for further solo broadcasts by him in the new year are at present being made.
