

OTAGO STORY

ASPECTS of town and country life in Otago, past, present and future, will be discussed in This Otago, a new feature to be broadcast from 4YA for the first time at 7.15 p.m. on Wednesday, March 16. The session will have as its regular chairman Dave Forsyth, well known in the teaching profession and in private life. In the first broadcast Mr. Forsyth (below) will chair a discussion on the future of Otago by the Mayor of Dunedin (L. M. Wright), the president of the Dunedin Chamber of Commerce (W. Scott-Gilkinson) and the District Manager for the Tourist and Publicity Department (R. G. Sincock).

The second broadcast of This Otago, on March 23, will include the first of four talks by Brenda Bell, Leaves From a Station Letter Book, 1858-1900, and a talk on Otago's first Anniversary Day in 1849. In later sessions David Esplin will discuss the separation movement in Otago in the sixties and seventies; Rodney Grater will speak about the Anglican dissidents in the early years of the province; Dr. W. P. Morrell will give biographical sketches of men of Otago; Gwen Sutherland will be heard in an historical series on South Otago; and Margot Ross will be heard discussing that remarkable periodical of the sixties, The Otago Punch. Panels on the present and future of North Otago will be chaired by J. C. Dakin.

Christian Thinkers

PROBABLY no other Christian thinker is more widely known and quoted today than Reinhold Niebuhr, who will be the subject of the first of four talks on Some Great Christian Thinkers to start from 4YC at 8.0 p.m. on March 17. The speaker will be Dr. D. O. Williams, senior lecturer at Trinity Methodist Theological College, Auckland. In other talks the Rev. J. S. Somerville, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Wellington, will discuss Professor John Baillie, former Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland; the Very Rev. Martin Sullivan, Dean of Christchurch, will speak about Canon Charles Raven, former Vice-Chancellor of Cambridge University; and the work of the noted Roman Catholic philosopher, Jacques Maritain, will be examined by Patrick Hutchings, junior lecturer in philosophy at Victoria University College.
