

Kildare is Here!

THERE are probably a lot of people who, if they were asked to give the names of three famous doctors, would give Doctor Kildare as the name of one of them. In doing so, they would be paying a tribute, not only to the Drama of Medicine, but also to the persistence of the film industry. It was the film industry that made Dr. Kildare's name, and having made it, kept it alive in people's minds by a series of films with the same characters in similar gleaming and hygienic situations. Now Dr. Kildare has changed his ground and become the latest figure in a long line of radio doctors. The Story of Dr. Kildare is being told in half-hour, self-contained episodes at 9.0 p.m. each Monday evening from the ZB stations and 2ZA. Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore are there, and even though the wheel-chair is invisible and the pretty theatre sisters only disembodied voices, there'll still be plenty going on in that big bustling American hospital.

LEW AYRES

BATTLES, jousts, mysterious prisoners, beautiful women, gallant knights and all the intrigues of medieval France that Alexander Dumas could crowd into a novel is to be found in Les Deux Dianas. There's very little less of it in the dramatised radio version, The Two Dianas. For those who like their thrills in slashed doublets and silken hose, The Two Dianas will be broadcast from 12B at 10.15 a.m., Mondays to Fridays, beginning on December 21.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel — And You'll Jump out of Bed in the Morning Full of Vim.

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Wind bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, tired and weary and the world looks blue.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two 'pounds' of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely.

Ask for CARTER'S Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. Distributors: Fassett & Johnson Ltd., Levy Buildings, Manners Street, Wellington, C.B.
