WORLD BOOKS

"World Books" have set new standards of literary values since their inception in 1939. Despite the war, they still offer the same high quality of fine buckram binding, with titles blocked in real gold on leather panels, the same clear typography and the same high standards of selection.

You can have these splendid best sellers delivered monthly right to your home. Join "World Books" and build up your own library of books of permanent interest. Members receive the Club's choice for only 7/- each, post free, irrespective of the price of the book in its original edition (which ranges from 12/6 to 32/6). Post your subscription with the application form below, naming the FREE BOOK you would like to have. Single copies of past selections are available to members only.

COMING TITLES

MARCH—THE KON TIKI EXPEDITION, by Thor Heyerdahl. How six men crossed the Pacific on a raft—one of the great adventures of our time. (Illustrated.)

APRIL—A TOWN LIKE ALICE, by Nevil Shute. Absorbing narrative of a woman survivor of 1200 miles forced march in Malaya, who marries an Australian and founds a new town in Queensland.

MAY—I BELIEVED, by Douglas Hyde. Now famous autobiography of a former British Communist.

JUNE—RAIN ON THE WIND, by Walter Macken. A story of Irish fishermen with a fascinating blend of descriptive writing and vivid characterisation.

JULY—DANCE AND THE SKYLARK, by John Moore. A light comedy of Festival time in the country.

AUGUST—THE YEARS OF PERIL, by Arthur Bryant. The story of the fourteen exciting years 1669-83, when Pepys was laying the foundation of Britain's sea power.

SEPTEMBER—THE CONSUL AT SUNSET, by Gerald Hanley. A masterly first novel of British administration in African territory, with a dramatic outpost-of-Empire setting.

OCTOBER—THE PAPER PALACE, by Robert Harling. A subtle suspense story of Fleet Street—of search of an editor and his columnist into the past of their Press Lord.
