Xavier Cugat was born in Valencia, Spain, and made his debut in America as accompanist to Caruso when the great tenor toured that country. America appealed to the young Spaniard and he stayed to use another of his talents by joining a New York newspaper as a cartoonist. During this time he acquired a taste for the music of Latin America and eventually succeeded in creating a demand for the style with the orchestra for which he is now famous. He will be heard from 12B today at 4.0 p.m. in "Latins from Manhattan."

The stories of achievement of some of the outstanding figures in the sporting world of today and yesterday are being heard from 22A in "They Were Champions," at 10 o'clock every Saturday morning.
