

ONE of the apparently numerous company of English nobles with a penchant for investigation work, Lord Julian Brummel, makes his bow to 3XC listeners shortly in a new serial thriller, The Beau. He is called in by the British Government to track down a missing scientist who holds part of a top-secret formula. This he does with the intelligence and élan one would expect of an English milord. His Lordship is, of course, not affected by the stodgy "departmental" approach of his friendly rival, Inspector Pomeroy of Scotland Yard.

Produced by Roland Strong (above), The Beau is (it is said) a fast-moving adventure series which takes in a pretty parcel of underworld characters and official types. But for all the undoubted seriousness of his mission Brummel has a light-hearted approach which provides occasional relief from the tension of operations outside the law. He is, incidentally, no kin to the Regency clothes-horse George Brummel from whom he takes his nickname.

The Beau will have its first broadcast from 3XC at 7.15 p.m. on Tuesday, July 28. It is already playing from 2ZA on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10.15 p.m.

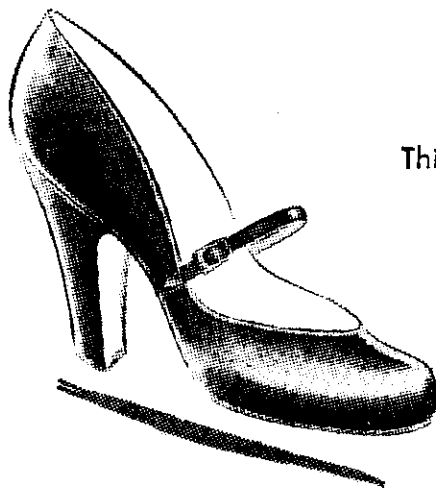

Worms' Eye View

"TROPICAL fish feed on tubifex worms. I've always kept fish and I started digging their dinners myself. Friends asked me to dig for their fish, so I gave up being a bus conductor and went into the worm business full time. Now I dig one hundred and twenty pounds of worms every week, and everybody's happy except the worms."—Bill Kemp, a tubifex worm collector, speaking in the BBC's "In Town Tonight" programme.

This is Fashion's as-you-please in your new courts. A strip strap, thin and delicate, arching from your instep . . . or the graceful line of the dip side court or a nylon mesh woven into the daintiest courts. And these are three Skyline Courts seeing eye-to-eye with fashion. Bandolero (top), D'Orsay (centre) in calf or velvety suede, Shadowline in nylon mesh.

Bandolero

Fashion-fit means fit to personal measurements, fit like a second self. Your length-size of Skyline is made in several widths (AA—slender; A—slim; B—medium; C—full).
