

A New Method of Concrete Building.

Building in concrete or reinforced concrete in place of wood, in particular, and even in lieu of brickwork, is the inevitable. It has been coming

In factory made concrete block work a great variety of solid, hollow and shaped blocks have been tried. Factory made reinforced studs and beams Concrete Construction Illustrating Walls.

(Patent applied for) R. W. de Mookk F.N.Z.I.A.

61 Majoribanks St. Wellington.

No Scale.

during late decades, and has advanced much these recent years, both in factory cast parts and in work done in situ.

have been employed with much success, but so far a complete system of factory-made parts for complete buildings has been lacking. However, the patentee