

Loud Speakers

The Pick of the World's Markets

THE greatest care should be exercised in choosing a loud speaker. No matter how good the set and the other components may be, the loud speaker has the final say regarding the quality of the reproduction. Many otherwise perfect installations are ruined through being associated with indifferent loud speakers.

After testing a wide range of loudspeakers, we decided to handle the following speakers, and strongly urge intending purchasers and also those dissatisfied with their present outfits to test the merits of these high-grade instruments.
