1YA Features

SUNDAY evening's service will be relayed from the Pitt Street Methodist Church, the preacher being Mr. W. Walker. Following the relay, a studio concert will be presented, to which Miss Molly Atkinson and Messrs. T. Moffitt and Hartley Warburton will contribute.

ON Monday evening 1YA will not observe the usual silent day, but will relay a debate from the Auckland University Hall between the members of the Victoria College (Wellington) debating team, which is to tour U.S.A., and a team representing the Auckland University College. This should prove both an interesting and entertaining feature.

AT 7 p.m. on Tuesday Mr. George Campbell will continue his instructive talks on "Motoring," and at 7.40 p.m. Dr. A. B. Fitt, under the auspices of the W.E.A., will talk on "Why and How We Dream." The evening programme consists mainly of vocal gems from grand opera and musical comedy. Miss Alma McGruer (soprano), and Miss Beryl Smith (contralto) will sing solos and duets from "Cavalleria Rusticana," "High Jinks," and "Going Up," while Mr. Frank Sutherland's very fine bass-baritone voice will be heard in "Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves," by Handel, among other splendid numbers.

Miss Audrey Perry, fresh from a success as Angela in the recent production of "Florodora," by the Auckland Amateur Operatic Society, will give three elocutionary numbers. The Studio Trio will again give some very fine items, and Brassin's arrangement of the Fire Music from Wagner's "The Valkerie" will be played as a piano-forte solo by Mr. Eric Waters. Another topical talk will be given by Mr. A. B. Chappell, M.A.

MR. Norman Kerr will talk again on Physical Culture at 7.40 on Wednesday evening, and a fine concert programme will follow. A combination new to the evening session will perform. Many listeners will remember the enjoyable programme given at a recent children's session by the Tudor Orchestra, led by Mr. Reginald Morgan, which will provide all the instrumental section of the programme. Their items will include gems from popular as well as classical music. The New Zealand Four will also sing further numbers from their extensive repertoire.

RECENTLY at 1YA, a novelty programme was heard, entitled "What did you do in the Great War, Daddy?" and in response to many requests, a somewhat similar evening will be given by the same combination, under the title of "Not Quite on the Western Front." Many listeners will remember the enjoyable programme given at a recent children's session by the Tudor Orchestra, led by Mr. Reginald Morgan, which will provide all the instrumental section of the programme. Their items will include gems from popular as well as classical music. The New Zealand Four will also sing further numbers from their extensive repertoire.

ON Saturday afternoon 1YA will rebroadcast 2YA's running description of the inter-Island Rugby football match Front." Listeners are assured of a night of humour, together with some of the old songs of the Great War.

THERE will be two talks on Friday evening, one at 7 p.m., by Mr. Frank Sutherland, on Rugby Football, and the other at 7.40, on Esperanto, by Mr. W. G. E. Wheeler. During the evening session another enjoyable relay of the concert to be given by Messrs. Lewis Eady, Ltd. will be heard and will be followed by a studio programme which will include pianoforte solos and duets by Miss Kathleen O'Leary and Mr. Eric Bell, a 'cello solo by Miss Mollie Wright, and items by the Studio Trio. A singer new to 1YA will make her appearance in the person of Miss Aimee Clapham (contralto), who, besides singing solos, will be associated with the Madame Mary Towsey Quartet. Vocal solos and duets will be sung by Madame Mary Towsey, Mr. John Bree, and Mr. John McDougall.

2YA Features

THE evening service of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral will be broadcast for the first time on Sunday evening, when the preacher will be Canon Percival James, late of Auckland. Canon James is well known to Auckland listeners, the services of his church having been frequently broadcast by 1YA. Mr. Robert Parker, one of Wellington's leading musicians, will be at the organ, and will also act as choirmaster. The recital of the Wellington Municipal Tramways Band, which plays under the conductorship of Mr. E. Franklin, will be relayed from His Majesty's Theatre, at the conclusion of the cathedral broadcast.

ON Monday evening Mr. H. C. South will give another of his interesting and informative talks on "Books—Grave and Gay." The concert session will feature items of a classical nature, the modern composers being well represented. Rubinstein's "Ukrainian Suite," the "Andante" from Lalo's "Symphony Espagnole," the "French Military March" from Saint-Saens, "Suite Algerienne," and Morena's arrangement of "Brahms' Memories" will be the features of the orchestral items. The assisting artists will be Miss Myra Sawyer (soprano), Mr. John Prouse (baritone), Miss Rene Goyder (contralto), and Mr. Harry Phipps (tenor). Elocutionary items will be rendered by Miss Rose Carte, who is reciting again, by request, "The Ballad of Splendid Silence." Mr. H. Temple White will give a brief organ recital from the Taranaki Street Methodist Church, his items being Schubert's "Serenade" and "The March of the Israelites," by Costa.

Mr. G. Austin Blackie, who is considered to be one of New Zealand's finest tenor soloists, is shortly leaving for Australia, and will make his final appearance before the microphone on Monday evening. All listeners appreciate Mr. Blackie's talents, and will be delighted to hear him sing "I Know of Two Bright Eyes," and "Prelude," from Landon Ronald's "Cycle of Life."

MR. DOUGLAS STARK will make a welcome reappearance before the microphone on Tuesday evening, when he will entertain listeners with some typical "Harry Lauder" numbers. Appearing on the same programme will be Miss Jeanette Briggs and Mr. Roy Hill, who will be heard in musical comedy items and light ballad numbers. Popular songs will be featured by Miss Lily Charles, and orchestral items in keeping with the programme will be played by the orchestra. At 9.30 the usual dance programme will be broadcast.

THE representative of the Hutt Valley Horticultural Society, Mr. A. J. Nicholls, will deliver another of his series of talks on "Gardening" on Thursday evening. The Wellington Artillery Band, under the conductorship of Captain Herd, will provide the major portion of the programme for the concert session. The assisting artists will be Mrs. Eric Ewart (mezzo-soprano), Mr. L. M. Assheton Harbord
