Combining an ELECTRIC SCREENED GRID WITH A PENTODE VALVE

This Triumph of Design Gives the "Courier" Electric its Intense Selectivity

To produce a set that would get all Australian stations consistently with only three valves and without an aerial—that was the aim of the designer of "Courier" Electric. And he succeeded. By a singularly ingenious arrangement he combined a pentode valve with an electric screened grid. Thus he created a receiver that is super-sensitive and yet unusually economical. It has all the range and power of a multi-valve set without its expensiveness and wastefulness of current.

But this is only a small part of the superiority of the Courier Electric.

For example it has a special circuit arrangement which enables you to cut out unwanted stations with the greatest ease. It has great purity of tone, it is safe, simple and inexpensive. Send the coupon below for further information about this remarkable new "Courier."
