It may be that your correspondent was quietly having a sly dig at the distinguished speaker's well-known penchant for endeavouring to persuade "honourable members" to discard old traditions in shaping their present day policy. Captain Sir Ian Fraser, M.P., in a recent broadcast talk in New Zealand, mentioned that in Great Britain talks were allowed at certain periods by prominent members of Parliament on highly controversial matters, within reasonable limits, with opportunity afforded to the opposition to reply, shortly thereafter. But I fear our chosen representatives in this Dominion will continue to serve up "ye-olde times"

which in the instance under review can scarcely claim to have ruled out the controversy considered so objectionable.—I am, etc.,

"About New Zealanders For New Zealanders"

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I commend you on your "Radio Record Annual" this year? You have certainly crowned a year of excellent progress in the weekly paper field with an even better annual publication. It is one of the few Christmas annuals that I have come across that is written for New Zealanders about New Zealanders. Most of our local annuals seem to be compiled for sending overseas and are therefore of less interest to people in the Dominion. But not the "Radio Record Annual." It gives one reading matter that is live and interesting and illustrations that are both new and topical. I am having no hesitation in recommending my friends to buy a copy.—I am, etc.,

Puzzle Pie Must Be Won

Can You Solve This Simple Puzzle?

Don't miss this splendid one-week competition! It is just a short and easily worded paragraph about Collieries, which appeared in a New Zealand newspaper some time ago, and has now been put into puzzle form by our artist. The opening words, "In a word, our very wealth," will tell you what it is all about—and for the rest, the wording is simple and the sense of the sentence will help you. Each picture or sign may mean part of a word, one, two or three words, but not more than three. Errors are calculated on the basis of the number of words wrong.

Solve the puzzle carefully and write your solution IN INK on one side of a sheet of paper. Add your name and residential address and post the entry to:—

"PUZZLE PIE," No. 67.

Box 950, G.P.O., CHRISTCHURCH.

READ THESE RULES CAREFULLY

All entries must be postmarked not later than TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 13.

The First Prize of £50 will be awarded to the competitor whose solution of the paragraph is correct, or most nearly correct. In case of ties, the prize money will be divided, but the full amount will be paid.

Sealed Solution and £50 Prize Money is deposited with "Truth" (N.Z.) Ltd. A postal note for 1/- must accompany each initial entry and 6d. each additional entry. Stamps not accepted. Any number of attempts may be sent on plain paper. Alternatives in single entries will be disqualified. Results will be published on Friday November 23.

SOLUTION TO "PUZZLE PIE," No. 65.

"The publicity managers of political campaigns have their presidential candidates do many things to attract attention, such as driving locomotives, entertaining movie actresses, baseball players, and airplane heroes, and preaching sermons."

£50 WON

RESULT OF "PUZZLE PIE" NO. 65.

The winning competitors in this contest are

MRS. MARY J. EMMERSON,
One Mile Road, Queenstown.
MRS. F. EDWARDS,
107 St. George Street, Papatoetoe.

Their solutions, containing four errors, were the most nearly correct ones received, and the PRIZE OF £50 IN CASH is therefore awarded to them. Each will receive £25.

Prize money will be posted on Monday, November 19.
