What is required :

Each of the twelve jumbled lines contains the exact words forming a quotation (a proverb or other extract) taken from English literature. There are no words to be added or taken away.

What is required is to arrange the words in each line in proper order, as originally written by the authors.

Rules and Conditions.

Answers to eight of the lines must be sent, but include more answers in solution if possible. The prize of £40 will be paid to the person whose solution contains the largest number of correct answers. The prize will be divided in event of ties.

To send solution, write in ink, on a sheet of paper eight or more answers in numerical order. Add, "Above is my solution of 'Jumbled Quotations,' No. 2, as advertised in 'Radio Record.'"

Sign name and full address. No addressed envelope need be sent. Full result will be advertised in this paper on May 31.

Entry fee, to be enclosed by Postal Note (unless unprocurable, when stamps will be accepted) is ONE SHILLING. Extra solutions may be sent for sixpence each. If sending additional solutions, it will not be necessary to re-write whole sheet; simply write substituted answers.

Each solution judged independently. Awards of adjudicators must be accepted as final.

CLOSING DATE:

Post entry not later than Friday, May 17, addressed to:

The Adjudicators,
