VINCENT ASPEY AGAIN ON TOUR

Engaged For National Stations' Broadcasts

MR. VINCENT ASPEY, the prominent New Zealand violinist, who once before toured the national stations under engagement to the Broadcasting Board, has just been re-engaged to go on tour again for a month, beginning on July 6.

Mr. Aspey had his first lesson on the violin when he was only nine years of age and had 14 months' tuition under Mr. McLaughlin, now residing in Hamilton, after which he continued his training with an uncle at Huntly. He played before the Governor-General and Lady Jellicoe at the age of 12, and a year later he had passed all his examinations with honours.

In 1924 Vincent Aspey was the leading violinist at the Fuller-Hayward theatre in Devonport, and while violinist at the Auckland Majestic Theatre in 1925 he won the gold medal for an open solo at the Auckland competitions. His first radio broadcast was in 1926, when he played at a special transmission for the benefit of the Duke and Duchess of York, who were trout-fishing at Taupo.

In 1928 he left for Sydney to study at the Conservatorium, acting on the advice of Zimbalist and Heifetz. Studying the violin under Gerald Waleum and chamber music under Alfred Hill, distinction was soon gained in both subjects, and he was winner of the championship solo at the Radio Eisteddfod. From then until 1931, when he arrived back in Auckland to start his concert and other chamber music work, he was leader of the 2FC and 2BL orchestras.

His best stage work was done when he was with the Mareo Symphony Orchestra, when he did the Mendelssohn Concerto and the Lalo Symphony. Vincent Aspey, who uses a very fine "Joseph-Galiaus" violin, is now leader of the 1YA orchestra.
