"Nothing gives me pleasure now

Nothing is so depressing to yourself and those with whom you come in contact as a gloomy, dispirited outlook on life.

Over - work, under - nourishment and sleeplessness are most likely the causes of your cheerless state of mind.

No doubt you've heard of Wincarnis, the fine old tonic-wine, and have often been on the point of buying a bottle. If you really value your health, delay no longer—get a bottle to-day and from the first glass you'll notice a marked improvement in your health.

Vital energy will oust apathy; the hardest work will come easy to you; complete enjoyment of life will again be yours.

success of Dr. Merton Hodge, whose delicious play, "The Wind and the Rain," had such a long run in London. Other plays of considerable merit were those published by National Magazines Ltd., the best, perhaps being "Fear," by Mrs. Targuse.

The last star to rise on the literary horizon is Mr. Ian Donnelly, of Christ-church, whose book "The Joyous Pil-grimage" is being brought out by Dent's. A few friends have been allowed to read the proof copies of this, and it is indeed a work of considerable charm and originality.

Meanwhile, New Zealanders abroad are shining brightly on the Inky Way. Percy Crisp, formerly of the "Sun," is on the editorial staff of the "Daily Ex-press," London. Ian Coster, that brilliant young tennis player, footballer and (writer, has gone from the editorial staff of Nash's Magazine to be film critic of the "Evening Standard" at a salary running into four figures. And last, best and dearest David Low still gives this poor old planet its daily laugh in his brilliant cartoons. His "Russian Note Book" and "The Best of Low" have been best sellers all over the world.
