

BARE or BEAUTIFUL?

Do you prefer your legs to be daintily set off with silk stockings or bared to the coldly critical gaze?

WHEN a woman stops caring about her appearance she is getting past caring about. No matter how much attention may be paid to hair, face and hands, a young woman may spoil her whole appearance by neglecting the appearance of her legs. It is an unquestioned fact that, from the normal man's point of view, legs are much less attractive without silk stockings to set off their shapeliness and charm. Many of those women who themselves go stockingless in a mild summer look askance at another woman's bare legs and say, "What legs! She ought to wear stockings." But probably the other woman is saying the same about the first.

Apart from the heat of summer, there is really no reason why an attractive woman should spoil her appearance by economising on silk stockings—and appearance is just as important in summer as at any other time of the year. But, of course, there are plenty of women who have never given the question a thought in this light, and others who really think that bare legs enhance their appeal.

With a view to testing our readers' feelings on the subject, the "New Zealand Radio Record" announces a

LIMERICK COMPETITION and a SILK STOCKING BALLOT

For each of the best five limericks sent in by readers in favour of either bare legs or stocking legs, a prize of ONE PAIR OF FIRST-GRADE, FULLY-FASHIONED, PURE SILK HOSE will be given by the "Radio Record." Competitors are to address their entries to The Editor, "N.Z. Radio Record," Box 1680, Wellington, and endorse the envelopes "Limerick." Any number of entries is allowed.
