BELOW IS WHAT YOU HAVE TO DO. After Napoleon Bonaparte's great defeat in 1815 he was transported to St. Helena. During his confinement he became attached to an English soldier, who often wrote down the sayings made by the great general. An officer, becoming suspicious, one day discovered a piece of paper which had these words written upon it, and was partly obliterated:—

B	E		S		E	E

--	--	---	---	---	---	---

BELIEVING it to be a secret code message, the soldier was duly court-martialled, and Napoleon was called as a witness. After glancing at the paper, he calmly replied:

WAS I A LIAR

In these words he gave the key to the missing letters. The puzzle is to use the letters contained in Napoleon's reply and place them in the empty spaces in their correct order in the alleged code message.

IF YOU ARE ABLE TO COMPLETE THE PUZZLE CORRECTLY YOU WILL FIND THAT THE SENTENCE WILL READ THE SAME WAY BACKWARDS AS IT DOES FORWARD.

AFTER THE ABOVE problem had been solved by the officer, Napoleon, thinking of his friend who had been court-martialled, pleaded:

YOU BE A PAL OFFICER

Below are six blocks divided into squares, and directly under each block we have given you a clue to the word which you have to complete. We have placed some of the letters in their correct order in each block. What you have to do is place a letter in each of the 16 empty squares so as to form words in strict accordance with the clues given, using the letters in Napoleon's request, "You be a pal, Officer."

A person entrusted with responsibility
in the army or navy.

M		M

The puzzle was compiled from Chambers' Twentieth Century Dictionary of the English language, and the clues are as they are defined therein. Answers must be in strict conformity with the clues. Should there be more than one correct answer, the prize will be divided equally between the successful contestants. The decision of the Manager must be accepted as final. Entrance fee of 1/- must be sent with stamped addressed envelope. The result and correct answer will be sent, together with a refund of your entrance fee, together with your share of the prize money if you are correct.

The prize money has been deposited with the Goldberg Advertising Agency. All entries must be posted not later than July 3. Correct answer will be published in this paper on July 10.
