This Week

Wellington, Friday,
December 4, 1936. (Vol.
X., No. 21).

Some ideas for increasing the comfort of passengers travelling on the trains between Auckland and Wellington are embodied in today's signed article. Dr. Ulric Williams contributes another of his arresting articles, while there are full radio programmes, a further instalment of "Passport to Hell", film and women's pages and a number of special stories.

OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND, the brilliant young actress, first unearthed in "Captain Blood", and now playing a major role in Warner Brothers' big effort, "Anthony Adverse", to be released at Christmas.

Printed at a newspaper at the Post Office, Wellington.
