B STATION 3ZM, Christchurch, opened a new series of talks last week when they put over the first of a recorded issue by "Uncle Scrim," of the Friendly Road. These chats are aimed at the man in the street, being just a few hints of common sense about life and all its implications for the ordinary man and woman, and they start at 7.30 p.m. Trust the "Sunshine Station" to get hold of something out of the way!

RECENTLY returned from a triumphant tour of the South Island, the band of the New Zealand Institute for the Blind provided listeners with a delightful hour's entertainment on Thursday of last week. The concert was relayed through 1YA from the institute's concert hall. The band, much improved of late, playing with nice balance and variation, gave several bright numbers, with occasional instrumental solos and sea chanties. Allan Morton, the young blind cornetist who won the New Zealand championship at the last band contest, and the Rev. E. Chitty, the blind parson and a noted organist, contributed a couple of beautiful cornet-organ duets.
