

MAKING RADIO SETS IS OUR BUSINESS and we use

RAYTHEON VALVES exclusively

Radio set manufacturers are the most critical of all valve buyers. They have to be, because they know what an important part valves play in a radio's efficiency. It is significant that more manufacturers use Raytheons in their sets than any others.

Intensive engineering and scientific research, plus precision accuracy in assembling, are behind Raytheon's amazing efficiency and long life. Raytheons have been proved in millions of sets; in air transport services, police cars, exploration, expeditions where dependability meant lives. They are built to give long service and perfect reception under conditions more rigorous than will ever be encountered in normal operation.

Don't take chances with valves. Demand Raytheons; they cost no more and money cannot buy better.

UNUSUAL VALVES

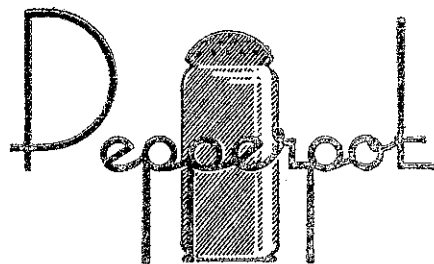

Raytheon maintains 20,000 valves in 163 different types. No matter how unusual the valve your Raytheon dealer can supply.
