

MR. O. C. OVERBECK, F.C.S., F.P.C., the world-famous British scientist, whose treatment has brought relief to sufferers in every civilized land.

Astounding Health-building Process that Banishes Constitutional Disorders by Removing the Cause, Increases Vitality in Young and Old Alike.

Interviewed, Mr. O. Overbeck, the well-known scientist, made the following amazing statement. Please read it word for word, as it carries a health message of great importance to every man and woman. Mr. Overbeck said:—

A friend whom I had not seen for a good many years expressed astonishment the other day when he met me striding along the street in my home town of Grimsby.

"Why, Mr. Overbeck!" he exclaimed, "Have you discovered a new elixir of life? When I saw you last you were a confirmed invalid, and nobody thought you would live another six months, yet here you are dodging traffic like a youth of twenty, and looking, if I may say so, years younger than when we last met, sixteen years ago."

A CONFIRMED INVALID.

My friend might well express surprise, for it is perfectly true that in the year 1921 I was beyond all doubt an infirm old man, and none the less a confirmed invalid because I refused to be absolutely bedridden. In fact, I declined to give up hope, and when my doctor told me to make my will, as I had not long to live, I determined there and then to search for the secret of the living cell.

I DISCOVER THE SECRET OF THE LIVING CELL

It was the problem of the essential nature of the human cell, and its reactions. The conclusions at which I at length arrived are fully recorded in a book of some 200 pages entitled "The New Light: A Scientist's Philosophy of the Universe." It is impossible to explain my theory here without going into details which would occupy a score or more columns of this newspaper. I must therefore content myself with saying that my researches soon convinced me that a certain kind of energy communicated to a given number of cells would, by a process of conduction which I gave the name of "domino reaction," be conveyed to the cells next to them, and so on, until the whole body was revitalised by the new stream of energy.

Taking my courage in both hands, therefore, I chose myself as the most fitting subject for experiment.

The first results, although a little disappointing, strengthened my conviction that I was on the right road, and I set to work by the method of "trial and error" to improve my process of conducting energy to all the cells of the body.

One day I noticed that my hair was getting darker and less scanty. Next, I noticed an improvement in my sight. Then my lumbago vanished, the kidney trouble that was souring my blood gradually disappeared, and the palpitation that had been a daily concern ceased to worry me.

I also observed considerable improvement in my muscles, wasted by a long period of inactivity. Here was very definite evidence of new cells being built up by my revitalising process.

I RESUME AN ACTIVE LIFE

Side by side with this highly gratifying physical improvement, it was soon obvious that my mental activity was increasing rapidly. In short, I was a new man, and was soon preparing plans for a new life.

When, a few weeks later, friends met me in the streets of Grimsby, apparently in the possession of perfect health, they were utterly astounded, for they had last seen me as a broken-down old man, whose sunken eyes, livid cheeks and hesitating walk fully confirmed my doctor's grave opinion of the outlook before me. Now they saw me striding along with the firm and confident bearing of a man of thirty.
