

Fairy Tales in Radio PAINTING THE PICTURE

and son-in-law. They talk, they conjure up old recollections, they drift on to speaking of their favourite old tunes. Soon Father Jones slides round to the organ seat. You can tell that he can't resist its lure as they speak of these old tunes.

"Anyone can tell what he's going to play," says his daughter lightly to the others. "I can tell by the sparkle in his eye, 'Blue-bells of Scotland.'" Of course they join in, singing very beautifully and talking easily in between the songs in the manner of families, until a chance word leads on to another song, say "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," and to another and yet another.

Some day we shall laugh at the way radio announcers used to say, "You are now to hear . . ."

"Once Upon A Time" will be heard from the four Commercial stations, from 1ZB, 2ZB and 3ZB on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays and at 4ZB on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, all at 5.45 p.m. The feature begins on these dates: 1ZB, now running; 2ZB, begins August 2; 3ZB, August 9; 4ZB, August 16.

One-way Bridge

ANNE ON CONTRACT

SO Agatha shut the window and dealt again. I called 'One Club', and told Lucy firmly when she asked me that I had four-and-a-half honours tricks. Then, in the next few hands, I was successful with what they told me was a forcing opening bid and a cunning asking bid. I also made a singleton brilliantly and violated the "One-over-one" convention without coming to harm.

Agatha said: "I really must get the supper. Were we playing for a penny?"

At the door she drew me aside, "Anne dear, you did splendidly. I'll lend you my Culbertson to-morrow and you must swot it up so that we can have a regular four. Contract's perfectly simple when you get the idea, isn't it?"

BUT what none of them guessed and what I never told them, was that all the time I had been playing dear old, simple, unconventional, auction!
