£100 for your Child's EDUCATION

How A.M.P. Industrial Policies lighten parents' problems

GOOD health is sure ground on which to build a child's future. A sound school education puts in foundation, but it is the specialised knowledge acquired later that is the passport to a child's success.

Money is needed for this advanced training. You can ensure that it will be available for your child by taking out an A.M.P. Industrial Policy under which the premiums will be collected at your home each week.

In October, 1918, a parent assured the life of his son, then aged two years, under the Society's Industrial Table K20. The policy provided for payment of £78 plus Bonuses at the expiration of 20 years, in return for a weekly premium of 1/6. The policy matured last month, when £100/3/- was paid over by the Society. This amount included £22/3/- as Bonus additions, and represented more than 28 per cent. over and above the total premiums paid. Had the parent invested 3/- a week, the amount would have been £200/6/-.

What of YOUR children? Talk it over with the next A.M.P. representative who calls. You can rely on him as you can rely on the Society, which is the Largest Mutual Life Office in the Empire.

THE LARGEST MUTUAL LIFE OFFICE IN THE EMPIRE
