

THE NEW 1930 "RADIO GUIDE and CALL BOOK"

Can be of assistance in every home where a radio is operated. Written in an easy-to-understand manner, the technical articles may be clearly understood, whilst the Trouble Corner has helped to solve the radio problems of thousands in New Zealand. The call, sign, location, power, frequency and wavelength of over 500 stations are given in the call section which alone is worth the price of this Dominion publication. Below are listed the chapter contents. Glance through them!

Sectional Contents:

SECTION 1.—Yesterday, To-day and To-morrow: The story of broadcasting in New Zealand, told from an interesting angle—illustrated with photographs.
