

gramme "The Doll's Song" from "Tales of Hoffman." Miss McLeod excels in this particular type of work. Miss Molly Atkinson, mezzo-soprano and another promising young singer, has selected for her numbers, "The Land of Might Have Been," "Bird of Blue," and "O Promise Me." Mr. Hugh Woods, bass-baritone, who is rapidly establishing himself as a favourite at 1YA, is singing this evening, "Yeomen of England," "Dream Enthralling," and "Deeper." Instrumental items will be provided by the String Octet under the direction of Mr. Whiteford Waugh, and included in their numbers is "The Indian Summer Suite," a particularly fine piece of music. Mr. A. B. Chappell, M.A., will give a further Topical Talk. Mr. Karl Atkinson will broadcast another of his popular gramophone lecture-recitals, this time on "Voices of the Orchestra."

Popular Night at 2YA

VOCAL numbers will be given by Miss Ella Fair and Mr. A. W. Beckford, soprano and baritone respectively. Miss Fair's items will be "I Will Make You Brooches" by Coningsby Clarke, "A Necklace of Love" by Nevin and "You Lovely Thing," by Anderson. Mr. Beckford will contribute two numbers from musical comedy and a ballad number. These will be "A Bachelor Gay" (from "The Maid of the Mountains") and "They Wouldn't Believe Me" (from "It's a Wonderful Night") and the ballad "A Chip of the Old Block." Novelty instrumental items will be furnished by Mrs. Mildred Kenny's Mandolin Band, the items comprising two groups of popular melodies. Two popular entertainers, Mr. Will McKeon and Miss Maisie Oakes, will contribute popular songs, duets, humorous numbers and sketches to this programme. The Salon Orchestra, under Mr. M. T. Dixon, will play as an overture a selection from "Russian Folk Songs" arranged by Higgs, and other items by this combination will include an "Orchestral Suite" by Jensen, two numbers for piano and strings, and Schumann's "Traumerei."

Gleanings from 4YA

THE Dunedin Choral Society is holding a concert in the Town Hall, Dunedin, and 4YA will conduct a relay of this performance.

WEDNESDAY

Auckland Features

A FEW weeks ago the Birkenhead Municipal Band, under the direction of Lieutenant J. T. Lighton, made its first appearance at 1YA and brilliantly rendered many pieces. It will perform again this evening. This band, from the borough across the harbour, is looked upon as one of the finest brass band combinations in the North Island.

The assisting artists are of a high standard.

3YA Programme

BOTH folk songs and operatic solos will be found in the programme, the quartets comprising a Swabian and a Hampshire folk song, while there will also be operatic duets. Contributing to the programme will be the well-known concert hall favourite, Mrs. K. Hartshorn, elocutioniste, and an instrumental programme will be provided by the Christchurch Broadcasting Trio.

MISS PHYLLIS JAMES
A well-known 1YA contralto.
—S. P. Andrew, photo.

Notes from 4YA

THE talk to be given by the Home Science Extension Department of Otago University at 4YA this afternoon will be on "Some Suggestions for Children's Parties." At 7.15 Mr. L. W. McCaskill will broadcast a review of the principal articles in the October issue of the "Journal of Agriculture." Both talks have been arranged for by the 4YA Primary Productions Committee.

Mr. Arthur Gordon's orchestra, which is one of the most popular combinations engaged by dancing enthusiasts in Dunedin, will supply all the instrumental music on this 4YA's popular night. The very latest dance hits and popular melodies will be played in addition to a banjo and a violin solo by two members of the orchestra.

At the recent Charity Ball held in the Town Hall, where there were over two thousand people present, Arthur Gordon's Orchestra provided the dance music and its playing created a furore. Novel items will be found in two vocal duets to be presented by Misses M. J. and B. Ritchie. The voices of these two young ladies blend admirably, and both artists broadcast very well indeed. They have appeared quite recently on the competitions platform in Dunedin, and have an exceptionally fine record with regard to their duet performances. Mr. James Paterson, Dunedin's Harry Lauder, will present three items, which have not previously been performed in New Zealand. To complete the programme Miss McGregor, elocutioniste, will present two bright numbers.

MR. W. FARROW
A tenor, whose broadcasts from 1YA are always welcome.
—S. P. Andrew, photo

THURSDAY

Spring Cleaning

THE afternoon talk from 1YA, 2YA, and 3YA will be on "Spring Cleaning"—a talk arranged by the Home Science Extension Department of Otago University.

From Auckland

AT 7.40 p.m. Mr. N. M. Richmond, B.A., will give another of his interesting lectures on "The Problems of Capital and Labour."

The Minus Fives, the popular 1YA entertainers, will delight everyone with a novelty entertainment entitled "A Night of Convivialities." This will be on lines similar to the first one broadcast by this merry band of performers, and this evening they will be assisted by the Studio Trio and Frank Wade's Melody Boys.

Wellington Notes

A TALK on "Gardening Hints" by Mr. Wm. Jackson will be broadcast at 7.40.

The Wellington City Salvation Army Band will provide the concert this evening. The band, performing under the conductorship of Mr. H. Scotney, will play some fine selections and marches. The Lyric Male Voice Quartet, Mrs. R. D. Potts and Mr. A. R. Seal will assist. Mrs. R. D. Potts, who possesses a light soprano voice, is making her first performance over the air. The Lyric Quartet's items will include concerted numbers and solos; one of the former, "My Lullaby Morn," will have a 'cello obligato, played by Miss Lilla Hill. The same artist will also play an obligato to Mr. Roy Hill's solo "Had You but Known." Novelty piano solos will be given by Mr. N. C. Izett.

MRS. PEARL OWEN
A contralto, who is often heard from 1YA.
—S. P. Andrew, photo

From Christchurch

THE farming talk this evening will be given by Mr. H. de O. Chamberlain, of the Department of Agriculture, on the subject of "Boys' and Girls' Agricultural Clubs."

Two very fine quartets will be heard this evening: "In this Hour of Soft-ened Splendour" and "Softly Fall the Shades of Evening." The vocalists will be the Grand Opera Quartet, the members of which will also sing a number of solos and duets. The evening's concert will include a specially fine programme by the Studio Instrumental Octet under Mr. Harold Beck. Miss Irene Morris and Miss Thelma Cusack (violinists) accompanied by the orchestra will play Bach's "Largo."

FRIDAY

Broadcast by 1YA

DR. KENNETH MACCORMICK, speaking under the auspices of the British Empire Cancer Campaign Committee, will broadcast at 7.40 a talk on "Cancer."

The whole of the evening's programme will be given by Mr. Coney, one of the foremost musicians of New Zealand, and his company. He has been heard from one end of the Dominion to the other as a baritone soloist at concerts given by all the leading choral societies, and he has adjudicated at many competitions.

Besides being an excellent singer, he is also a fine accompanist. He will (Continued on page 29.)

MISS KITTY WILLIAMSON
Soprano, who broadcasts from 1YA.
—S. P. Andrew, photo.