TWO Modern Sets Fully Described

The LINK THREE.

An easily built up-to-date all-electric three-valve set employing band-pass tuning, multi-mu r.f., and pentode output, ensuring high selectivity, excellent sensitivity, and unusual fidelity of reproduction.

Also: The "KRIESLER FIVE."

A radio set all ready for the home-constructor to assemble. The "Kriesler Five" has four amplifying valves, including three screen-grids and a pentode—a set worth while building.

Interesting reading on Manawatu "B" Station 2ZF. Useful suggestions for dealers and servicemen, activities of the newly formed N.Z. Radio Institute, DX Club etc.

This month's "Radio Times" has been enlarged by an extra eight pages.
