World Radio News

THE demand for instruction in English has been so insistent in Austria that the broadcasting authorities have decided to transmit weekly a dialogue between two English performers. The broadcast is primarily intended for small children at school, but schools with older pupils intend to utilise the service, as do very many adult listeners.

AFTER a year of unsuccessful attempts to locate an unlicensed radio station used for directing the landing of liquor, the American Department of Justice has recently played the transgressor. During the chase the department's car travelled over 35,000 miles, and the station was eventually discovered in a car, hidden beneath the cushions and floor boards. The bootleggers' station had a range of 1000 miles, and the car's speedometer showed that it had covered 22,000 miles in changing its location.

THE B.B.C. has recently come in for some severe criticism, and as a direct sequel to Poland's complaint about reference to that country in the New Year's Eve broadcast, a group of M.P.'s have taken upon themselves to demand more effective control of B.B.C. activities. A special committee is being formed to keep a closer watch on the B.B.C. and to agitate for reform. It has been pointed out that foreign listeners persist in regarding views expressed through the microphone as being official, due to the close association of the B.B.C. with the Government of the day.
