New Golden Dream
(81-82-83-84) (Virgin)

THIS RECORD is something of a glow. Whatever your preference you will find it memorable and instructive. Find its qualities and fix your place. Be swept, be drained. . . This is really all I have to say, but I shall not stop on that account. Indeed, I shall begin again.

Simple Minds have produced something as inventive, as cleansing, as suggestive as anything by the musicians, The Heroes, who first inspired them to form around the days and nights in Glasgow. This will thrill them, for it is still in them to be thrilled. And what will thrill you is that it is possible to pluck something as special and triumphant as this out from amidst all the painful failures. Its uses are abstract, but its signficance is universal. And the feeling grows, as I listen, that they're just beginning.
AND NOW you begin. . . Paul Morley
