

QUEEN

This new studio album is scheduled for release this November, almost four years to the date of Freddie Mercury's death.

Work on the album began in the last year of Freddie Mercury's life and it was his wish that Roger Taylor, Brian May and John Deacon finish the recordings. The album has subsequently been four years in the making.

Featured among the recordings are the last songs Freddie Mercury wrote as well as the last vocals he recorded. "Made In Heaven" marks the closing chapter on one of rock's most legendary careers.
