

She was the kind of person who exuded confidence,

really cool,

everything she did worked out

I hate that.

There was just something about her. She had that look.

Confidence? She had bags of it. And with a career as successful as hers, who wouldn't have. To make things even worse, she was an incredibly nice person. Generous, hardworking, a thoroughly well-rounded individual with a great degree. Where from?

Canterbury University.

Where else.
